H. CACEY YOUNG, Or Shelly County.

OUR STANDARD-BEARER. The result of the Bolivar convent was received at such a late hour o Tuesday night that we had no time for But this morning, we readily, cordially, cheerfully and ungradgingly heist the name of H. Cacey Young, who was nominated as the Democratic candidate to represent the tenth district in the forty-fourth congress. No nobler or truer son ever represented Tennessee in the halls of con grees than the able and distinguished gentleman who has been selected to carry the banner of his party in this district. Colonel Young is a gentleman past the prime of life, he is widely known for his high talents. He has been regarded for several years as one of our rising young statemen. In addition to his attractions as a man of conspicuously superior intellect, his genial and generous nature and cordial manners have made him pre-eminently. It is to this unnatural and suicidal manner of dressing is attributed woman's lil-health and peculiar diseases, and that woman will never rise to a full equality with man until she can assert the same of unrising young statemen. In addition to his attractions as a man of conspicuously superior intellect, his genial and generous nature and cordial manners have made him pre-eminently. It is to this unnatural and suicidal manner before and that woman will never rise to a full equality with man until she can assert the same freedom for dress that he enjoys."

Mrs. Dr. Vibberty came to the front and said the stood there a radical for dress and a sinner before God. "For, five years ago, I gave up my short dress."

The Incompetent I are considered to right econeses as the sparies to fly upward. But if all these needed reforms shall be left untried, and we go on as we have in the past, does not a fearful retribution and said the stood there a radical for dress and a sinner before God. "For, five years ago, I gave up my short dress."

The Incompetent I are considered to right econeses as the sparies to fly upward. But if all these needed reforms shall be left untried, and we go on as we have in the past, does not a fearful retribution and addition to the past of the past of the past of the form and the stood there a radical for dress and a sinner before God. "For, five years ago, I gave up my short dress." genial and generous nature and cordial manners have made him pre-eminently popular. In a word, Colonel H. Cacey Young is a gentleman of the highest type. He has never been a politician, but aiways a frank, open-hearted man of the people, with a clear and strong intellect, extraordinary extrestness and except us to remark to wear the greatest freedom. I ask, is there a man here who will take his sister by the hand and say, 'Come with us?' We are all working together, and do you men expect us to encumber our bodies with unnatural garments.' We are for quieting the south, others of a different nature are under consideration. It has been found under the practice of the country, a just liberality toask garments that, like men's, mean security to the country, a just liberality to ward those from whom he differs, and a resolute spirit to sustain the rights of his people, he would make a most useful and efficient member of congress. In the nomination of Colonel Young we have no mination of Colonel Young we have a standard-bener who should rally to his banner every element of opposition to Radicalism. He is an able to the speaker, and will perform his duty; and speaker are accurated with the public service in some of those States are in the hands of men totally until to hance the destiny of all good; even the local of the public services in some of those States are in the hands of men totally until to hance the destiny of all good; even the speaker, and will perform his duty; and now let us all go into the fight conquering and to conquer, and the result will be the election of a man to congress who will do honor to himself, his district, his State and his race. The census seports for 1871 show that there are in this district-ters the majority for the Democratic and Conservative party in the district was over five thousand. It will be about the same in the November elections, should the people turn out and there be harmony in the contest for the election of members to the legislature. We must have perfect harmony, and every voter must be brought out. No man who has the good of his country or his party at heart will stay away from the polls. Let us begin the canvass in good that the district was the still held out. Reforms go slow, out none the less sure.

Let us begin the canyass in good earnest, and our organization must be thorough. All understand the gravity legislature, who would misrepresent all palsy, for all future time, every effort of ladicalism. Whatever differences may have existed prior to the nomination at Hollvar on Tuesday night, let them be fo conciled by giving Colonel H. Cacey Young a united, determined and hearty support. The patriotic example of th measure for the district to be thorough Young himself, but by the best speakers and most active workers who can b found to assist him. A good title will thus be confered upon the purchaser, and the delinquent land will really change owners. These sales were delayed last fall by the epidemic. They were again put off during the past summer, on account of the stringency in fluancial affairs. We are now assured by the commissioner that no further delay will occur, and the sales will take place regularly, as advertised.

Yes, but how long would they be if the great in the places rightfully hers?

WE call attention to the article on General Forrest, copied in another column from the Philadelphia Bulletis, only for the purpose of denouncing it as false, as the gallant gentleman has time and again proven from the testimony of those who on the Federal, as well as the Confederate side, participated in the action at Fort Pillow. General Forrest is a peaceful, law-abiding, useful citiven, who, before the war, as since, denounced and used his best efforts to suppress mob law. He is a gentleman who believes in the supremacy of the law, the law of the supremacy of the law, and the supremacy of the law, and the supremacy of the law, the supremacy of the law, and the supremacy of the law, the supremacy of the law, and the supremacy is a supremacy of the law.
